Lab 2

1. Build a Functional Component with one element inside it.

2. Build a Class component with at least Three element (div, span, and paragraph) element inside it.

3. Build a Function component that have 5 props of "your Bio", an array called skills and one element as children to pass from parent to child you should use this props to create a good view of your child component. (destruct props in this component)

4. Build a Class component that have 4 props as courses you studied and one element as children to pass from parent to child and use them in your class component.

5. Build a component called ToggleButton that manages a boolean state (isToggled). Render a button that toggles between "ON" and "OFF" based on the state when clicked. (destruct state in this component)